

ESTATE MANAGEMENT POLICY

1. Introduction

This policy relates to how Citizen will deliver our estate management service, explains our service delivery standards in this area and how we ensure that our services are delivered to that standard.

Our estate management service refers to the management of the environment around our properties to ensure our neighbourhoods are well maintained, safe and secure places. However as many of our homes are in areas of mixed tenure and we may not be the owners of the land we will not always be responsible for all aspects of maintenance concerning the physical surroundings of our homes.

This policy also sets out the responsibilities of both us and our customers in relation to the environments in which we have our homes. This policy should be read in conjunction with customers' individual tenancy, licence and leasehold agreements which further define these responsibilities.

Citizen has a robust approach to ensuring the health and safety of our customers and staff. Further detail on this can be found in our Health and Safety Policy and procedures.

The maintenance of the physical environment is very important to us and our customers; it affects feelings of safety and security and pride in the local community. We also recognise that clean and secure common areas can have a positive impact on reducing antisocial behaviour and criminal activity and is fundamental to our aim to 'provide homes that are a foundation for life'.

The Regulator for Social Housing's Neighbourhood and Community Standard requires all registered providers to have policies and processes in respect of the upkeep of common parts and communal areas, and for providing responsive estate management services.

2. Scope

This policy extends to operational areas where properties are managed by Citizen.

A communal area is defined as the parts of a house, a block of flats, a street or an estate which customers have a right to use in common with other customers. These include both hard surface and landscaped areas as well as the communal areas of our properties.

3. What we will aim to deliver:

- Ensure that our customers are meeting their tenancy, licence and lease conditions and enforce them when they are not.

- Set out clearly in tenancy, licence and lease agreements what are our responsibilities and what are customer's responsibilities in maintaining common areas and individual homes.
- Provide support and advice to customers about how they can ensure they can meet their obligations.
- Maintain, in conjunction with our customers, clean safe and secure external and internal communal areas on our estates.
- Where we are responsible, we will tackle environmental crime which includes fly tipping; littering; animal faeces and abandoned cars. We will work in partnership with local enforcement agencies in doing this.
- Undertake regular and ad hoc inspections to ensure common areas are maintained to a good standard of cleanliness and repair.
- Have appropriate contracts in place which ensure clear standards of service exist and are communicated to customers.
- Take prompt action when our partners and contractors are not delivering services to the agreed standard.
- Work closely with customers wherever possible to monitor services, improve quality and in the development of policies and procedures.
- Ensure that our customers are aware of the mechanism to report estate management issues.

Where we are legally able, we will service charge all costs of our estate management to customers who benefit from this service.

3.1 Responsibility

Generally, the repair and maintenance of communal areas is the responsibility of us as the Landlord, although customers have their responsibilities to keep communal areas clean, tidy and free from obstructions in line with their tenancy, licence and lease agreements.

We have a planned maintenance programme which ensures that the structural features of our houses are regularly surveyed and, as a result, become part of a programme of works to keep them in good condition and compliant with housing quality standards.

Customers are responsible for non-communal areas outside areas for example; their front and rear gardens and some instances the areas immediately in front of their homes.

Where issues are identified or reported on estates that are not the responsibility of Citizen they will be noted, and customers will be advised to report the issue directly to the relevant organisation. For example; to the Police, Environmental Health or the local authority highways agency

3.2 Environmental offences

Environmental offences are illegal acts which directly harm the environment for example; littering, animal fouling, dumping of bulk waste and fly tipping.

We take environmental offences very seriously and will work with our Local Authority partners in ensuring this is dealt with quickly. It should be noted that some incidents, for example; fly tipping, are the responsibility of the Local Authority to resolve.

Our intention is to minimise any negative impact on the environment in delivering our estate management service and this forms a key part of our processes.

We expect customers to treat common areas with respect and not to commit any environmental offences. Where we know who committed an environmental offence they will be charged for any of our costs associated with rectifying the issue and appropriate action taken against them.

3.3 Customer reporting

In the first instance customers should report any issues to our customer service centre. If the issue is our responsibility a timescale for the expected resolution of the issue will be given to the customer.

If the issue reported is not our responsibility to rectify, where possible we will sign post to the appropriate agency.

Customers are also surveyed on a rolling programme and asked to confirm any issues.

3.4 Estate inspections

We will carry out a quarterly programme of estate inspections and block inspections to ensure that services are being delivered to agreed specifications by our contractors and partners.

3.5 Property Left in Communal Areas

We maintain a zero-tolerance approach to keeping communal areas free of rubbish and personal belongings, ensuring that the risk and impact of fire is minimised. We will serve the appropriate notices on items left in communal areas and remove and dispose of items not removed at the end of the notice period.

We will recharge the customer responsible for the cost of removing and disposing of items left in communal areas. When we cannot identify who is responsible we may include the costs in service charges.
